

DisplayType doxydoc

namespace VerifoneSdk

enum class DisplayType

- DisplayType is a data element used in presenting customer content which qualifies the information to display.
- This enumeration is used for the POS to request content to be displayed on the terminal.

enumerator DISPSTATUS

Displays a status update, such as check verified successfully, on the terminal during a transaction.

enumerator DISPINFO

Displays the standard information communicated on the terminal during a transaction.

enumerator DISPERROR

Displays an error condition on the terminal during a transaction.

enumerator DISPACTION

- DISPACTION DisplayType displays on the terminal an action to be performed by the customer during a transaction.